DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is in response to communication filed on 3/14/2005.
2. Claims 1-31 are presented for examination.

Claim Objections

3. Claims 5, 8, 13, 19 and 22 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because multiple dependent claim may refer in the alternative to only one set of claims. See MPEP § 608.01(n).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

5. Claims 1-4, 8, 13, 16-18, 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Marsh et al. 5,848,397 hereinafter Marsh.

With respect to claims 1-4, 13, 16-18 Marsh teaches a method for providing advertisement information (Abstract). A step of storing advertisement information provided by a commercial sponsor into an advertisement storage means (Figure 8); a step of reading out advertisement information from said advertisement storage means (Figure 8); a step of sending said advertisement information, read out from said advertisement storage means, via an information transmission line (Figure 8, 104); a step of receiving via said information transmission line or a different transmission line, information on a viewing history information representing a history of paying said advertisement information by said broadcasting terminal (Figure 8 and col. 15, lines 14-20); a step of using said viewing history information to calculate a charge for providing said advertisement information to be paid by said commercial sponsor (Col. 4, lines 30-40).

Art Unit: 3622

With respect to claims 8, 22 Marsh further teaches using said viewing history to determine a point to be supplied to the receiver terminal (i.e. based on the viewing history of the user, the information is use to target ads based on the user characteristics)(col. 15, lines 41-53).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 5-7, 9-12, 14-15, 19-21, 23-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Marsh in view of Official Notice.

Claims 5-7, 19-21 further recite a merit charge discount rate for the rental charge or lease charge of said broadcasting receiver terminal. Marsh teaches based on the user's viewing ads subsidizing their Internet charges. Marsh doesn't teach that the discount is for the rental charges or lease charges of the terminal. Giving discounts as a form of subsidizing rental charges or lease charges is old and well known marketing techniques to motivate the customer to perform certain action. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art the time of Applicant's invention to have included a merit charge discount rate for the rental charge or lease charge of said broadcasting receiver terminal in order to obtain the above mentioned advantage.

With respect to claims 9-10, Marsh further teaches that the broadcast receiver terminal specified in advance and is provided with individual information (col. 16, lines 13-18).

With respect to claim 11, Marsh further teaches supplying the user statistical information to said commercial sponsor (see Figure 8 and col. 15, lines 14-20).

With respect to claims 12, 14 Marsh further teaches that the information is information on any of age, sex and residential area (col. 15, lines 31-53).

With respect to claim 15, Marsh teaches a method for providing advertisement information (Abstract). A step of sending advertisement information via an information transmission line (see Figure 8); a step of receiving, via said information transmission line or different transmission line, viewing history information stored in a broadcasting receiving terminal, said viewing history information representing a history of playing said advertisement information by said broadcasting receiving terminal (Figure 8 and col. 15, lines 14-20); a step of using said viewing history information and play conditions determined in connection with said broadcasting terminal to determine if said play conditions have been satisfied (i.e. the system determines if the user has viewed the corresponding ads to receive free of charge services)(col. 3, 2-4).

With respect to calculating a charge if said play conditions have not be satisfied. Since Marsh teaches determining if the user has viewed the corresponding ads to receive free of charge service on col. 2, lines 2-4) then it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill to have calculated a charge if the user doesn't view all the ads to satisfy the condition for the free service.

With respect to claims 23-24, Marsh further teaches that the broadcast receiver terminal specified in advance and is provided with individual information (col. 16, lines 13-18).

With respect to claim 25, Marsh further teaches supplying the user statistical information to said commercial sponsor (see Figure 8 and col. 15, lines 14-20).

Claims 26-29 further recite that the information is received by a radio wave via satellite or terrestrial radio wave. Official notice is taken that it is old and well known to use radio wave via satellite or terrestrial radio wave for communication between satellites. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of Applicant's invention to have included the use of radio wave via satellite or terrestrial radio wave in order to obtain the above mentioned advantage.

With respect to claim 30, Marsh further teaches wherein said advertisement information is played at a time of conditional access of said program information by said broadcasting receiver terminal (col. 3, lines 57 to col. 4, lines 1-17).

With respect to claim 31, Marsh further teaches wherein said advertisement information past a term of validity is deleted (col. 13, lines 19-25).

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant makes note of an Information Disclosure Statement (IDS) submitted on 8/30/2001 and re-submitted on 3/14/2005 along with the amendment. The amendment submitted on 3/14/2005 contained amendments to the claims on pages 2-10 and Remarks on pages 12-17 but no record of an IDS.

9. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-31 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

10. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP

Art Unit: 3622

§ 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
